City Last Evening--Both Engines Smashed-- Three Passengers Hurt.

ror to the scene. Fireman Bernish of the freight was buried beneath the mass of wreckage and his body was not recovered until this morning. It was in a frightful condition and almost unrecognizable.

The First News

The first news of the wreck was received by telephone from the Seven Oaks Dairy, but the person at the telephone was too excited to talk or explain matters. A few minutes later Brakeman Rice of the freight staggered into the depot in an exhausted condition with an injured leg and told of the horror, only in details. The number of dead and injured was not known, as he had started for aid as soon as he collected his senses after the accident. Night Agent Bert Rutter immediately telephoned for all the doctors available and a special train was ordered out. Drs. Pember, Palmer, Wood and Tarnsworth were secured and with newspaper men and road officials started for the scene of the disaster. Meanwhile the uninjur-

But passengers had none at any time, both for the injured and as soon as the relief train arrived the dead and injured, with the exception of Bernish, whose body was under the wreck of his engine, were removed to the city.

Met at Depot

Meanwhile the ambulance had been ordered out and was in waiting at the depot to take Constable Galt, who was unconscious, and Engineer Briscoe to the hospital, where there injuries were attended to. The bodies of Engineer Lafferty and Fireman Maher were removed to Ryans' morgue. Both bodies were blackened and begrimed with blood, but Lafferty's body showed but a wound in the temple. Maher was almost crushed to pieces, his head and stomach being crushed in and his legs and arms broken. Death must have been instantaneous to both. The word of the wreck had spread throughout the city and on the depot platform were many friends and relatives of trainmen seeking news. Until the relief train arrived nothing definite was known and the scene of the anxious Witnesses and relatives was pitiful. Willing hands assisted in caring for the injured and the dead were reverently handled by even the roughest coal-passer.

Passengers Jarred

There was no warning of the accident and "Janesville" had just been called by the brakeman when the crash came. Passengers were thrown across seats and into the aisles and all was confusion. Almost instantly the engine on the passenger train blew up, throwing both Engineer Lafferty and Fireman Maher into the air and away from the wreck. Engineer Lafferty was thrown completely over a fence and his body was found lying in the field. The hissing steam added to the confusion. Miss Grace Crosby of Sycamore, Illinois, was one of the passengers injured. She has been spending the winter in Janesville and was in Sycamore for the day, having gone down yesterday morning. She was bruised and severely shocked and was taken at once to the home of her aunt, Mrs. Mary Crosby, on North Jackson street. Conductor Devins was cut about the head and his shoulder

Others injured

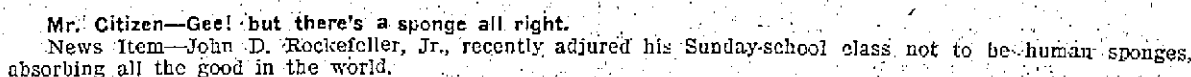

Fred L. Hauger of 361 North High street of this city, who was baggage checked, the passenger experienced a severe shakings up, Joe Alger, the passenger brakeman, received a cut on the head which confines him to his room. Among the passengers that were injured were Frank M. Morton of Monrovia and Henry M. Hoffman of New York City. The latter is a traveling representative of the Mutual Life Insurance company. Both suffered bruises and scratches on the thighs and thighs. The two freight brakemen, Peter Lyons and George Pirackem, of Baraboo, received injuries which, though painful, do not confine

TO CELEBRATE ON TWENTY-SECOND

UNIVERSITY TO COMMEMORATE WASHINGTON'S BIRTHDAY.

FRANKENBURGER'S DEATH

Other University News of the Past Week—Resignation of Members of Board of Regents.

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—The faculty and students of the University of Wisconsin are planning to observe Washington's birthday with an elaborate program Thursday, Feb. 22. At 11 o'clock in the morning the faculty will march in procession to the gymnasium, where the celebration is to take place. The university orchestra will give three selections, beside "America," which will be sung by the audience. The Rev. E. E. Ewing, pastor of Grace Episcopal church, will offer the invocation, and the chief address will be given by the Rt. Rev. Archbishop S. G. Messmer. The library will be closed from 11 to 1 o'clock, that all may have opportunity to hear the address.

Plans were made to have drill and parade by the battalion, but inclement weather has made that part of the program impossible. Special seats will be reserved for the members of the Wisconsin State Library association, which will be in conference at Madison then, as well as for the university faculty; similar provision may be made for other organizations. Innovations in the way of student marshals are being planned. In the evening a banquet will be given in the gymnasium, that the professors and instructors may become better acquainted.

Death of Frankenkurg

Professor David B. Frankenkurg, who for twenty-eight years held the chair of rhetoric and oratory at the University of Wisconsin, died Feb. 6 at Madison, of a complication of throat and nervous diseases, and was buried Friday, Feb. 9, at Forest Hill cemetery, after services at the Madison Unitarian church. Professor Frankenkurg was born at Lawrenceburg, Pa., Oct. 13, 1847, and in 1865 he came to Green County, Wis., where he worked on a farm through his boyhood. In 1864 he entered Milwaukee college and two years later he entered the state university, whence he graduated in 1869. In two years more he took his degree at the university law school, and after several years practice in Milwaukee he was called to the chair of rhetoric and oratory at the university in 1878. He secured his master's degree in 1882, and is the author of many popular poems, essays and monographs.

Consumers' League Convention

The annual convention of the Wisconsin Consumers' league will open this afternoon in South hall at the state university, and continue in session through Friday. The executive board will meet in the office of the university home economics department this afternoon, and afterward a reception will be given the delegates and visitors at the home of President and Mrs. C. R. Van Hise of the university. At night Professor C. R. Henderson, University of Chicago, will speak on "Workmen's Insurance and the Consumers' Duty," and Professor T. S. Adam, of the department of political economy of the University of Wisconsin, will speak on "Some New Phases of the Labor Problem."

Friday the Rev. E. G. Updyke will open the annual business session with an invocation, which will be followed by officers' reports, election of officers and of delegates to the national convention at Boston, March 6, and two addresses, one by the state president, Mrs. B. C. Gadden of Oshkosh and one by E. W. Frost, Milwaukee, chairman of the Wisconsin child labor committee.

State Library Association. Last night Dean E. A. Birge of the college of letters and science at the University of Wisconsin will give an address on "Books and Life" before the Wisconsin State Library association, which opened its annual meeting yesterday afternoon and continues in session for three days. Librarians from all over the country will be present.

Resignation of Regents. Delbert Utter, Lake Beulah, succeeded H. C. Taylor of Oshkosh, resigned, as university regent from the first district, filling the term which ends February 1907. Dwight Parker, Fenimore, university regent from the third district, has also resigned. No successor for his term, expiring next year, has yet been announced.

BELOIT MAY HAVE A STREET RAILWAY YET

New Million Dollar Consolidation Proposes to Build One in Line City.

According to officials of the new corporation, Beloit may have a local street railway within the coming year or two as a result of the purchase of its water, gas and electric plants by the new corporation called the Beloit Water, Gas and Electric company. One-half million dollars in cash was turned over and the deal was completed yesterday at the Wisconsin Trust company in Milwaukee, placing the separate water, gas and electric companies under one management. All yesterday was spent at the Wisconsin Trust company's Milwaukee office by owners and purchasers. The money was turned over, about $500,000 in cash, papers of sale were signed and arrangements were made for the trust company to collect interest on the bonds. The company will have $500,000 in common stock, $100,000 in preferred stock, $700,000 in bonds and $200,000 in reserve. The water, gas and electric companies, as they existed heretofore, will not be dissolved, but will be owned by the new company. Joseph Hendley of Beloit, president of the consolidated company, and Charles Woolley of Cincinnati, secretary, will assume management of the business. C. H. Evans, a Chicago civil and mechanical engineer, will be employed for expert advice. Directors of the new syndicate are A. L. Rich, P. S. Briggs and C. H. Woolley of Cincinnati; James J. Davis of Anderson, Ind.; Joseph Hendley, Thomas Hendley and W. H. Wheeler of Beloit.

SECOND NIGHT OF THE PINK HUSSARS

Musical Comedy Again Delighted a Fair Sized Audience at the Myers Theater.

"The Pink Hussars" made their second appearance last evening before an enthusiastic but only fair-sized audience at the Myers theatre. There were a number who had witnessed the first evening present and they were able to note the rapid improvement in some of the features which had been made within twenty-four hours. The pony ballet was again a favorite. The art and grace of these supple young women, the perfect rhythm of their movements, it is safe to say, has not been duplicated in this country. Miss Blanche Gilson's silvery voice was again heard to advantage in "Where the Wild Wind Blows" and other ballads and Mabel Collins captivated with the "Little Girl Who Me" song. It is to be hoped that better fortune awaits this deserving organization on the northern journey.

SASH AND DOOR COMPANY

TO DO MILL WORK FOR NEW NORMAL SCHOOL BUILDING

Eight Thousand Dollar Contract Secured in Plattville By Local Concern.

Through O. E. Guttler, secretary of the concern, the Janesville Sash and Door company have secured the contract for the interior sashing and door work for the new normal school building to be erected at Plattville this year. The agreement involves about $8,000 and the material used will be Wisconsin birch. The structure is to be built by contractor J. A. Silver of Appleton at a cost of $227,000. The local concern is now figuring on mill work for two big school houses in Cincinnati, and each contract will call for about $12,000 worth of work. General Superintendent Fred Rehl will represent the company in the building. Interior finishings for twenty thousand dollars are ready for shipment now and seven more for Oak Park will be completed next week. Interior finishing for twelve flat buildings for Chicago will also be shipped next week. A number of contracts have just been closed. One is for four buildings on an Indian reservation at Shawana, Wis., $4,000; and another for a school house at Miami, Ohio, $5,000; others for two summer residences at Glencoe, each being for about $1,200.

FASHION NOTES

New York, Feb. 15.—The milliners are holding back their newest and best designs until the ten days before Easter, which falls this year in the middle of April. There are opportunities, however, if one will improve them, to obtain advance ideas of the season's favorites. But often the verbal descriptions are so conflicting and the peeps given at the hatier treasures show such variety it is very difficult to speak with authority as to what will be the exclusive mode.

Paris milliners refuse to hamper themselves as to any special combinations of color, but a spring and summer lightness is given to what they have so far turned out, by their using light colors or shades for the shapes and darker tones for trimming. They are also combining light and dark of the same color, such as purple and lavender, dark and light blue, maroon and old rose, etc.

An alpine shaped bronze green straw was trimmed with velvet a little darker, with a few pansies, almost as perfect as nature, put against the crown at one side. A green silk scarf was twisted around the crown and fell in ends behind. Leghorn is a straw which never tires, and holds its own through every summer season. Year after year it is used and admired and is as useful and favored as in our grandmother's day. A leghorn hat ranks with Valenciennes lace in the merits of Vanity Fair. A lovely leghorn ordered for a patron hat for an American house was of the usual shape, low, indented crown, with wide brim. It was turned up at the back and left side and raised a little from the head by a bandeau. This was covered by a long plume of maize color. A scarf of maize colored tulle and pale blue velvet ribbon was twisted around the crown, with a large bow directly in front.

It is rarely in good taste to wear both flowers and feathers, but the picture hats this season show a combination of both, by using the rose or leaves or forget-me-nots as a starting place for the plume, the flowers being placed directly in front.

Although the leghorns and other large hats retain the picture shapes of past seasons, yet the majority of even these are following fashion's trend as regards the crown, which is decidedly high.

The new utility hats are inclined to be small and close-fitting, with wings, stiff ribbon bows and quills. The alpine shape is much in favor, with dome-like crown and narrow brim caught up at one side with loops and quills, pointing upward, the crown having only a narrow ribbon or velvet band. This tendency of the spring hat toward smallness revives the fashion of small bonnets for the middle-aged and elderly women, and toques for the young matrons.

As far as spring headgear goes thus far the variety is ample and pleasing and no woman need be unbearably hatted or bonneted who uses good judgment and puts herself in the hands of a reliable milliner.

The chapeaux of the little folk follow the lines of the grown-ups, as also do the styles of dress. The frock known as the Dutch or Puritan frock is a charming model for a little girl or young miss. The skirt is full, with tucks or deep hem, sometimes both; the waist is gathered into a belt and cut square in the neck with full sleeves to the elbow. A gumpie can be worn with this waist, or it can have the neck filled with tuckered muslin, and long cuffs of the same fastened over plain cloth to match the dress.

Cashmere or henrietta is the material best liked for these dresses. They are often made with a belt and sash of soft silk with hair ribbons to match. Chapeaux, gingham, dainties and lilies are all being made in this Dutch fashion and are extremely attractive and becoming to the plump and healthy figure of the average American girl.

The attempt to insist upon the long skirt for street wear for women is not meeting with great success with the majority, but the ultra-fashionable wear nothing else, letting even their cheviots and rough and ready goods quite touch the ground. But the best-gowned women are those gowned appropriately and the reasonable walking length is always in good form for the street, reserving the longer and the trained skirts for house wear.

Fashion is also dabbling in sleeves a good deal. The newest coat sleeve is large at the top, running small below the elbow where all the trimming is placed. The trimming, most in vogue for cloth gowns is braids or

What to Eat and When to Eat

Two Important Questions Answered Easily After Reading This.

Every nutritive element of the best white wheat grain is found in Malta-Vita. This famous food is the whole of the wheat thoroughly steamed and cooked in absolute purity and mixed with the finest malt extract, that was ever made, thus it is the richest, strongest food in the world. You understand, of course, that the cooking and steaming of the wheat gelatinizes its starch, and then the malt extract, a powerful digestive agent, quickly converts this starch into maltose, or malt sugar. Maltose is great food, and the weakest stomach digests and assimilates it without effort.

We all know that for many years physicians of high standing in their profession have prescribed malt extracts, which contain a large percentage of maltose. Malta-Vita, the crisp, delicious, whole-wheat food, contains from eight to ten per cent of maltose. When Malta-Vita comes from the ovens, it is the crispest, most delicious food in the world, containing only one per cent of moisture. The other 99 per cent is food—brain and bone and nerve and muscle food—and most easily digested. Malta-Vita is always fresh and crisp, and ready to eat. Delicious, refreshing, invigorating. No other food like it. All grocers. Now 10 cents.

olds. This is a becoming style, whether on the tailor-made dress, or on a simple or for dressier gowns of silk or velvet.

The cheviot costume is a favorite for morning wear and care is taken that cut, fit and finish shall be as perfect as possible. For street wear in the afternoon, velvet and corduroy are still much in evidence but no one will indulge in new ones to any extent just now for they are altogether too warm for spring wear. Though very useful through the last days of winter. Most of these costumes are made with circular skirt and medium length coat, though many of them have the close-fitting Eton which gives the effect of a princess dress. The waists worn with these coats and skirts are silk or linen at pleasure. Although winter is still with us, the separate waist for spring wear is receiving a great deal of attention and the skilled needlewoman is busy with herself with embroideries and embroidery designs that shall be beautiful, light and muslin when the warmer days shall make these materials more charming.

Embroidery for dress has been revived from the days of our grandmothers, when if they had it they must make it, and not only make the stitches, but the designs. Today the art needlework shops put the designs and threads very quickly into our hands, but yet the woman who can draw her own patterns and work them has a decided advantage in the way of originality, and the nameless something that attaches always to "all her own work."

If one has access to old-fashioned patterns of fifty years ago, she has access to a gold mine in the way of leaf, petal and stitches, but if compelled to depend upon her own skill entirely let her take as a most satisfactory motive the tulip.

Eyebrow work is extremely pretty and has the real old-time air. The conventionalized daisy is a pattern that adapts itself well to a waist for a miss or the child. Working the centers in eyes and the petals in star-shaped is a popular idea. The long eyelids used for leaves are cut longwise, turned back and overbanded firmly. This work is delightful to do, charming in effect and very fashionable.—ESTELLE.

GAS ASSOCIATIONS MAY MAKE COMBINE

State Members Favor Consolidation of the Three National Orders.

At a meeting of the Wisconsin Light association, held in Milwaukee, yesterday, a recommendation favoring the merger of the three big national associations was endorsed. I. F. Wortendyke of the New Gas Light Company of this city was present and read a paper on "The Advantages of a Gas System." John Corcoran of Madison was elected President; F. Danforth of Monmouth, Mich., vice president, and Henry W. Hyde, Racine, secretary.

During the forenoon session F. P. Kelsey of Milwaukee, who has charge of the advertising department for the Milwaukee Gas Light company, read an interesting paper upon "The Function of Advertising in the Gas Business," in which he said:

"The main aim of our publicity department has been to let the public know just what the company was willing to do for its patrons, keeping its appliances up to the highest standard, making adjustments upon request, and similar things. But this alone will not do. The consumers must be posted as to how far the company is willing to go. This knowledge prevents friction and dissatisfaction. The proper way to give this information is through the columns of the newspapers."

Several technical papers were read. "Extracts from a High-Pressure Log" was the title of the paper read by F. M. Cutcheon of Appleton. "The Advantages of a Water Gas System" were presented by I. Wortendyke of Janesville.

Resolutions of condolence in memory of George McMillan of La Crosse were reported by a special committee consisting of A. Halse of Milwaukee, John Corcoran of Madison, and David Douglas of Eau Claire and unanimously adopted.

Labor Notes

During 1905 11,021 Japanese and 4,929 Koreans came into the United States, against 14,382 Japanese and 5,906 Koreans in 1904, a decrease of 248.

The textile workmen are the most poorly paid in Germany. Since 1899 the wages have risen somewhat, but it is doubtful if the advance has kept pace with the ever-increasing price of foodstuffs, especially meat. The strikes of recent years have caused manufacturers to organize for mutual protection, as they saw their interests threatened by the growing power of labor organizations. Organized labor in Germany today comprises 1,250,000 members, against 1,052,000 at the close of 1904, an increase of 18.5 per cent last year. Since 1904 the organization has grown to five times its size. Adding to the above other labor unions, the total number was 1,500,000 in 1904, or 13 per cent more than 1903.

Welding of three building trades bodies in that city into one compact organization, with 100,000 men behind it, is the immediate purpose of the union leaders in New York.

Organization of a new labor society, to be known as the "International Brotherhood of Pulp, Sulphite and Paper Mill Workers," has been effected in Burlington, Vt. The body is composed of various local unions that have withdrawn from the International Brotherhood of Paper Workers, which is allied with the American Federation of Labor.

The amending regulations dealing with the Victorian Factories and Shops Act, introduced in the Queensland (Australia) assembly recently, provide that furniture must be stamped when the furniture is practically completed, and not merely before leaving the factory, and a purchaser must be informed in writing whether he is buying Chinese or European made goods.

Des Moines, Feb. 15.—The Val Blatz Brewing company, Milwaukee, is being sued by J. G. McNamara of Emmetsburg for $400,000 paid for beer sold here in the last ten years. Under Iowa law it is argued that the sale is illegal and the money paid must be considered only as a loan.

DISCRIMINATING LADIES

Enjoy Using Herpelide on Account of Its Distinctiveness. The ladies who have used Newbros Herpelide speak of it in the highest terms, for its quick effect in cleansing the scalp of dandruff and also for its excellence as a general hair-dressing. It makes the scalp feel fresh and it always that itching which dandruff will cause.

Newbros Herpelide effectively cures dandruff. It destroys the germ that causes it. The same germ causes hair to fall out and later baldness. BUILDING NOTES

Bartlett H. Baldwin will this summer build a two-story frame flat on Linn street. The foundation will be of cement blocks and the dimensions are 26x40. The plans for the structure are being drawn in the office of Architect L. L. Hilton.

NOT A PATENT MEDICINE

Hyomei—A Scientific Treatment For Catarrh By Breathing Medication.

Breathed through the pocket inhaler that comes with every outfit. Hyomei destroys all catarrhal germs in the air-passages of the throat and nose, soothes and heals the irritated mucous membrane and effectually drives from the system all traces of catarrhal poison.

No one should confound Hyomei with the patent medicines that are advertised as catarrhal cures. It is as superior to them all as the diamond is more valuable than cheap glass.

The complete Hyomei outfit, consisting of a neat pocket inhaler, a medicine dropper, and a bottle of Hyomei costs but $1, and extra bottles can be obtained for 50 cents, making it the most economical method of curing catarrh, as well as the most reliable.

The People's Drug Co. have sold a great many Hyomei outfits and have seen such remarkable results from its use, that they sell it under an absolute guarantee that it cost nothing unless it cures.

The reluctant advertiser, who has to be "persuaded" before he will risk even a half-adequate campaign, is described by a great writer in this way: "We do what we must, and call it by the best names we can, and would fain have the praise of having intended the result which ensues."

These ground floor prospects are all right, but how about the sixteenth story dividends?

Senator Bird has demonstrated the fact that a man is never too old to be married.

St. Valentine remembered many, showing that the good, old saint has not passed out of the present day and age.

Despite the blizzard that raged throughout the country, Jamesville came out of it much better than was anticipated.

There are five present state officials who have their political lightning rods up for the official lightning to strike them.

While plenty of snow fell in the recent storm it drifted so badly that driving is poor and sleighing even worse in the rural districts.

There is much more work connected with the office of alderman than drawing the five dollars a meeting as some of the successful candidates may find out.

Poor Chaucey Depew! He is not even allowed to rest in peace now that he has resigned from several of the great corporations he belonged to.

Either every one in Jamesville is soon to be a millionaire from lead and zinc stock or there are going to be a lot of broke men going around the city.

There is repeated speculations as to what is to become of the project for an interurban to Madison. Time will alone disclose this interesting piece of gossip.

This country is becoming fanatic over the question of tainted money. Does not the Bible say something that to those that have shall be taken away and to those that have not shall be given.

Congressman Cooper announces to Washington friends that he is a candidate for re-election and has begun writing letters to his friends in the first district to begin their work.

It is lots of fun to a street commissioner to have everyone complain about the condition of the streets, but if those same taxpayers who complain would clean their walks they would be in a position to talk.

Everyone talks of the great contest that is going to be waged in the third congressional district, forgetting the one that is about to be staged in the first right here at home. With a home candidate in the field, M. G. Jeffris, the Jamesville people can enjoy the situation.

It is to be hoped that Reformer Lenroot will have run his string before time for the primaries. It would be confusing to have to select from among so many as are now being mentioned. Thin the field out a little please so we can see daylight.

Local politics are interesting in the extreme. As announced before, the Gazette is taking the middle of the road position until after the primaries and then it will endorse the proper candidates selected as the standard bearers of the party.

There is a rumor about the city to the effect that the coming spring aldermanic campaign is to be waged on the grounds of removing the present city marshal from office. Where the rumor started is not known, but it should be run down and all doubts as to the position of various candidates fully decided before the primaries are held.

BECOMING WISE.

The farmer is fast becoming enlightened as to modern commercial methods, as well as to the necessity of scientific working of his land. He is no longer classed among the ignoramuses, his development the last dozen years has been rapid. In fact, to be a successful farmer necessitates education as great as is necessary for the conduct of any commercial line of business. The farmer's power of analysis is much greater than many townspeople give him credit for. While he may not be able to see through a stone wall, nevertheless he may know what the wall consists of. He has the power of distinguishing values, and every live merchant should make an effort, through his local paper, to interest the farmer in the goods he has to sell by quoting prices, giving descriptions, and by doing honest advertising. The honest advertiser generally is favored with many orders, where the one who resorts to lying makes a single sale. It pays to be honest.

IMPATIENCE OF AMERICANS.

As the character of the population of the United States changes by the influx of foreigners the barometer of radicalism changes. This as a scientific fact is commented on by students of economics, in connection with the action of the house of representatives on the railroad rate bill. Recent years have not furnished such a momentous question affecting the commercial interests of all classes from the farmers to the manufacturers, from the merchant to the executor of estates, and yet the house of representatives passed the Hepburn bill with whirlwind impetuosity. Even the proverbially excited Frenchman could demand no action so precipitate as was that of the direct representatives of the entire country. The more conservative Germans would be aghast at the off-hand decision rendered on a question of such import. In Latin countries, where the average of motives governing legislation is most affected by passion and prejudices, the action of the house would not be remarkable. It is from these Latin countries that the largest per cent of immigrants has come. In recent years. The student of political science and economics ascribes to the kind of new blood which has been infused into our nation, the growing radical spirit in the United States. No matter what one's views may be on the railroad rate question there is a sense of security which is welcome in the fact that the United States senate in fact and by tradition actually deliberates and considers before deciding questions affecting industrial prosperity to such a degree as the railroad rate bill does. With the radical spirit there comes the outspoken impatience which will brook no delay in its demands. A patriotic American cannot view the influx of immigrants without misgiving as to the results, when the results become so tangible in an increased impatience and increased radicalism. Already the investigation of the senate committee has done a great deal to lay bare mistakes in the Esch-Townsend bill which was proposed last spring and passed by the house.

TIDAL WAVE DESTROYS TOWNS

Places on Colombian Coast for Distance of 200 Miles Are Ruined.

Guayaquil, Ecuador, Feb. 15.—Cant. Holroyd of the steamship Torco, which arrived Wednesday, from Panama via Tumaco, Colombia, reports that it is believed all of the Colombian coast towns between Tumaco and Buena Ventura, a distance of 200 miles, have been destroyed by the tidal wave occasioned by the earthquake of Jan. 31. In several cases the earth opened, engulfing small buildings.

Already seventy bodies have been picked up on the beach near Tumaco. It is known that at Esmeraldas City several houses collapsed, including the government house. The village of Pangua, near the Colombian frontier, was inundated and many inhabitants were drowned.

The Colombian village of Guacada also was inundated and 200 persons drowned. The eruption of the Colombian volcano Conchal caused the earthquake. There were twenty-five shocks in eight days.

PRETTY WEDDING IN THE CUT-OFF CITY

Miss Adell-Harris Wedded to Charles H. Ballard—Both Popular in Social Circles.

Evansville, Feb. 14.—A very pretty wedding took place at high noon, today, at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Eugene Harris, 327 East Main street, when their daughter, Miss Adell S. Harris, was united in marriage to Mr. Charles H. Ballard, son of Mrs. Harrison Ballard of this city. The ceremony was performed by the Rev. Myron G. Argus, rector of St. John's Episcopal church, in the presence of only the immediate relatives of both parties. The bride's sister, Miss Cora E. Harris, played the wedding march as the bride, accompanied by her father and led by Rev. Argus, entered the parlor, where the groom was in waiting. The bride and groom stood in front of a bank of ferns and pink and white carnations, and the impressive ring service was used. After congratulations the wedding party were ushered into the dining room, where a delicious three-course dinner was served. The dining table was tastefully decorated with pink and white ribbons and ferns. Mrs. William Heron acted as caterer and Miss Mae Heron served. Amid a shower of rice the happy couple took their departure on the 2:45 train for Des Moines, Iowa, where they will spend a week with friends. Upon their return they will go to housekeeping at once on a farm just west of this city, where they will be at home to their many friends after March 15. The bride is one of Evansville's best-known young ladies. She graduated from the Evansville high school in the class of 1897. For the past few years she has been one of the popular clerks in The Economy store. She is a talented young lady, both in music and in elocution, and holds the office of treasurer in St. John's church. She wore a dress of cream laneland, with lace and pearl trimmings. The groom is a prosperous young farmer, a graduate from Beloit Business college, and at one time clerked in the Pioneer drugstore. He wore a suit of black broadcloth. The bride was the recipient of many gifts, among them being a set of lovely dishes from the proprietors and clerks of The Economy store. The best of wishes of a host of friends go with them to their future home.

Never Felt It

"Thank you, Dr. Richards, for not hurting me," said MISS MAMIE BUTLER, 203 McKee Boulevard.

She had just had three big molar teeth extracted and was expressing her feelings regarding it.

"I had suffered so with my teeth that I was nervous enough to die, almost thinking about it," she continued.

"But I NEVER FELT IT one bit when you took out those teeth."

This is a common experience with Dr. Richards, because he actually "MAKES GOOD," as the expression goes, in his claims to do PAINLESS dentistry.

Another thing: Dr. Richards never violates the confidence of his patients and all names appearing in testimonials in this paper are placed there with the FULL KNOWLEDGE and PERMISSION of the owners, and NEVER without said permission.

People, being so pleased and satisfied with results of having him do their work that they very often volunteer their names.

Consult him yourself and secure immunity from pain in your dental work.

"JIM" DAVIDSON
SEEKS PLACE

MAKES FORMAL ANNOUNCEMENT
HE IS A CANDIDATE.

RELIEVES ALL ANXIETY

Breaks His Silence Through Interview of His Private Secretary, Col.
Munson.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Madison, Wis., Feb. 15.—Governor James O. Davidson has formally placed himself in the open as a candidate for the republican nomination for a full term in the office which he now holds for a year on account of the resignation of Governor La Follette to become United States senator. Governor Davidson's private secretary and political manager, Senator O. G. Munson, has given out a statement in the form of an interview, stating definitely and without qualifications that Governor Davidson is a candidate and that he stands for precisely the same principles he has advocated since entering the state legislature 13 years ago, which principles were originated by the late A. R. Hall and Mr. Davidson, and later taken up and pushed to enactment by Governor La Follette. Prominent among these principles are supervision and regulation of state banks, primary election system, taxation of railroad corporations on the real value of their property instead of on the license fee or gross earnings system, and the creation of a strongly empowered state commission for the regulation of railroads and railroad rates. The statement says the announcement of the candidacy of Governor Davidson has been delayed on account of the desire of the executive to sound public sentiment, and also that "a more formal statement will come later from the executive himself declaring in detail the things for which he stands with respect to legislation for the future. The interview of Col. Munson is as follows:

"You ask me the plain question, 'Will Governor Davidson stand as a candidate for nomination before the primaries next September, to succeed himself?' I reply in equally plain terms, he will. While Governor Davidson believes it is too early for candidates for public favor to enter upon active campaigning, his course is determined and he has no delicacy or objection to an unequivocal statement of the fact. For the past year he has been pressed for a declaration of his intentions, but deferred his answer until he had ascertained the trend of sentiment of administration men and the real wishes of the people. He now feels that, in justice to himself and friends, and in response to public sentiment, he is fully warranted in becoming a candidate. Before entering upon a campaign to succeed himself Governor Davidson preferred to acquaint himself with the duties of his office and to have an opportunity to demonstrate to the people that he is animated by a desire to give them a thoroughly business administration. Having decided to become a candidate, his platform will be plain and in harmony with his public record from the time he entered the legislature in 1893 to the present moment.

"He takes pride in the fact that, associated with the now lamented A. R. Hall, he was one of the few originators of the issues that are now incorporated into the statute laws of Wisconsin. He has never deviated a hair's breadth from his early stand, and in the future wishes that no one be deceived as to his steadfastness of purpose.

"To safeguard the important remedial legislation of recent years, he will exert to the fullest his personal and official influence. He will also support such measures in the future as the light of experience shall demonstrate to be for the welfare and happiness of the whole people.

"As the commonwealth's executive, and personally, he will be glad at all times to meet and greet courteously, every republican and other citizen of our great and prosperous state. In the near future, Governor Davidson will personally make formal announcement of his candidacy, his platform and his purposes.

Three Announced Candidates
This makes three announced candidates for the republican nomination for governor. Last summer Senator J. J. McGilivray of Black River Falls confessed to being in the race. In the fall, October 25, Speaker L. L. Lenroot made public announcement of his aspirations. W. D. Connor of Marshfield was "sawing wood" in a quiet, travel-much-and-write-many-letters way.

VALENTINE PARTY A DELIGHTFUL AFFAIR

Miss Harriet Bostwick Hostess Last Evening—Engagement Announced—
Other Social Notes.

Little red hearts, showers of ribbon from limbs and branches of silver popple, clusters of white carnations, and ferns formed the charming background for the valentine party given by Miss Harriet Bostwick at her home on Court street last evening. Miss Sally Ringer of Devil's Lake, North Dakota, and Miss Eleanor Morris of Minneapolis were the guests of honor and Mr. Gross of Fremont, Ohio, was another visitor from without the city. As a happy and appropriate prelude to the festivities the engagement of Dr. Charles Sutherland and Miss Anna Valentine was announced and Lohengrin's wedding march was played as the company pressed forward to offer their congratulations. Card-board hearts served as tally cards for the game of hearts. Miss Morris was awarded the visitor's prize; Miss Lucretia Whitton and R. H. Van Cleave the trophies for the highest scores; and Mrs. Fred Sutherland and Bernard Palmer received the tokens for the lowest scores. At a long table in the dining-room of the Lincoln school, the social and festive program which included numbers by an impromptu quartette, piano selections by Mrs. Edward Peterson, and two vocal selections by Robert Bostwick.

In honor of Miss Rose Gagan, who has been transferred from the Adams to the Lincoln school, the teachers of the former institution gave a farewell social there yesterday afternoon. Their decorations were in red and white and heart place cards, roses, and palms ornamented the tables. A delightful time was enjoyed by all of the participants.

Mr. and Mrs. Bernard M. Palmer were chaperone the Phi Kappa Psi party during the Junior Prom festivities at Madison commencing Friday night. Others from this city who are to participate in the university affair are the Misses Grace Valentine and Isabel Smith, the Messrs. George Tallman and Rollin Lewis.

Miss Nellie Cassidy was surprised by a company of friends at her home, 251 South Academy street, Wednesday afternoon. The guests brought lunch baskets loaded with tempting viands and the valentines were not overlooked. At the close of the visit they presented the hostess with a handsome gold brooch.

Owing to the storm of last Tuesday evening, the dance which was to have been given by Janesville City Lodge No. 90 and Wisconsin Lodge No. 14, I. O. O. F., at the West Side I. O. O. F. hall, has been postponed to Tuesday evening, Feb. 20. All Odd Fellows and their families are invited.

Miss Marguerite Bostwick will entertain the J. T. B. club at a valentine party on Saturday evening.

Miss Agnes Shumway is to entertain a company of friends next Wednesday evening.

THREE ARE KILLED
IN A BAD WRECK

them to their rooms in the Madison hotel. Both were sitting in the caboose when the collision occurred. They were thrown violently forward and struck the end of the caboose. Lyons sustained a bruise on the right side of the face, a wound on the left arm and bruises and scratches on the knees and shins. Rice received a scalp wound, cuts and bruises upon his right shoulder, some internal injuries, and bruises and flesh wounds on the legs.

Peck Gaining Consciousness
Conductor Peck was more unlucky. He was hurled head foremost against the stove. Though his body was not scratched or bruised to any extent he is in a serious condition, a concussion of the brain being the result of the throw which he experienced. At the hospital it was stated this morning that the man had not yet regained consciousness, though signs of improvement were being shown. Dr. Palmer, who has charge of all the injured, stated that the outcome could not be predicted. The severity of a concussion can be determined only as the patient gains or loses.

Crawls Into Caboose
Rice soon realized the situation and rushed as fast as his injured legs would carry him to nearby farm-house. A. J. Fuller immediately hitched a horse and brought the brakeman to town. Meanwhile a terrible scene ensued. The engine crews of neither train had been given time enough to jump. As Lafferty and Maher were thrown to either side and Bernish was caught under the fire-box of his locomotive just what happened to Engineer Briscoe is not known. He himself is unable to explain. He found himself on the ground nearby and with one leg paling terribly he managed to crawl into the caboose of the freight. He is now at the Palmer hospital. Besides bruises and scratches he sustained fractures of bones of one ankle.

Inquest Ordered
District Attorney Fisher ordered an inquest this morning and a jury was drawn before Justice Barle. Mean-while the railway officials made their own investigation as to the blame of the accident, holding a session in Agent Lindsay's office behind closed doors. As the accident occurred on the Madison division, Madison division officials participated. Aside from Agent Lindsay, J. W. Layden, trainmaster of the Madison division with headquarters at Baraboo; I. N. Blair, roadmaster of same division, of Baraboo, and Master Mechanic Huffman of Baraboo of the same division participated. Mr. Huffman was in Wisconsin, Minn., when the news of the accident reached him and he arrived here early this morning. The big steam locomotive caboose was derailed out and it worked all night, arriving here at one, before it released the body of Fireman Bernish. William Bernish was a Sun Prairie man and had been on the road only sixty days. Engineer Lafferty was taking the place of Charles Manning of this city, the regular engineer of the Dekalb train, and was the president of the Madison division of the Brotherhood of Railway Engineers. He was an extra man at Baraboo and considered one of the best engineers on the division. He leaves a widow and four children. Maher leaves a wife and two children to mourn his loss. His home is on Pearl street. Nothing is known of Bernish's family.

Jury Visits Scene
The coroner's jury impaneled to pass upon the causes which led to the death of Fireman Joseph Maher of Janesville, consisted of Halvor Skavien, Charles Blay, John Comstock, E. A. Kemmerer, L. L. Fletcher, and E. E. Edgington. After viewing the remains this forenoon, in company with District Attorney Fisher and other regarded, they were taken to the scene of the wreck in a large sleigh. A representative of the Gazette accompanied the party.

Scores Viewing Wreck
Scores of people, many of whom had been there since early morning, were on the scene when the jury arrived. The place where the catastrophe occurred is located about half a mile below the wooden mills and about sixty rods from a point where the parallel tracks of the St. Paul seem to the eye to come together as they round a sharp curve in crossing a creek. To the east of the Northwestern tracks is the bar-wire fence through or over which Engineer Lafferty of the passenger was thrown to his death and beyond this is the river. The tangled wreckage of the two locomotives and the combination baggage and passenger car also lies on this side of the rails.

Shock of the Explosion
The mass of pipes in the little passenger engine's boiler is doubled up like a jack-knife, and pieces of timber and iron thrown off from her by the force of the explosion litter the landscape for a radius of fifty rods. One of the pieces is in a neighboring tree. Her tender driven back into the combination baggage and passenger car by the collision and the wreck of this coach are lying beside the track about fifteen yards to the southward. The passenger locomotive is a total loss. The big mogul engine which was hauling the special out of Janesville is completely overturned, her drive wheels seeming to clutch at the sky. Master Mechanic Hoffman says that this locomotive can be repaired and that the loss may not exceed $50,000. Others, however, venture the prediction that not a single flue in the boiler will be found intact. The engine is broken in two near the fire-box and it was from the angle between the sections that the body of Fireman Bernish of the freight was extricated this morning. On the other side of the track and perhaps seventy-five feet from the scene of the collision the blood on the snow indicates the spot where Engineer Thomas Lafferty of the passenger was hurled to his doom. The shock of the explosion shook the neighboring farm houses. It jarred the windows of houses on the hills nearly a quarter of a mile away.

Watch Was Still Going
The funeral of the late William Maher will probably be held Saturday morning from St. Patrick's church. His watch was still going when taken from his pockets at the undertaking rooms. $11.45 and a watch, which was badly crushed were taken from the pockets of the late Thomas Lafferty. The body was taken to Baraboo today. The father of the dead man, Robert Lafferty, arrived from Madison this morning. He, himself, has been an engineer for 47 years. He spoke as one who could not realize the awfulness of his affliction—for this is the second son he has lost in the same manner in ten years. The remains of the late William Bernish of Sun Prairie are still at the undertaking rooms. It has not been ascertained whether or not he has any relatives there.

Bob-Sleigh Foundered
On the way back from the scene the king-pin of the sleigh which was carrying the jury broke and let the front end down to the ground while the team and front runners went on for a few yards. The jury resumed its inquiry this afternoon. It was feared that the witnesses would not be able to appear for some days, owing to their injuries. The jury met this afternoon at two o'clock and adjourned until two o'clock Monday afternoon.

At Three-Fifty
At three-fifty this afternoon a telephone message from the Palmer hospital said that Conductor Peck had not yet regained consciousness. His pulse is good, however, and fear of his dying abated. Engineer Briscoe is suffering considerable pain in his broken ankle, and his ear is swelling and a large lump is appearing on his thigh, showing that he received worse bruises than were at first thought.

Purchasers of 100 acres or more of the lands we offer will have refunded all expenses.

WHAT ARE THE LANDS?

Just as good as any in Southern Wisconsin and a heap sight better than some of it. Rich, black, productive soil,---and the price only $15.00 per acre. Easy Terms of Purchase: One half down and the balance to suit the convenience of the purchaser. No expensive buildings to erect; no long cold winters for which to provide fuel; living and clothing expenses less, and everything in your favor. Then again, the pleasant side of the proposition: Even temperature the year around; within a few miles of the Gulf of Mexico; splendid hunting and fishing, and the most healthful of climatic conditions. You are familiar with the location of this land near the city of Alice, Texas, at Alfred Station.---The tract consists of 800 acres.

WHERE THE LANDS ARE LOCATED

Alice is in Neches county, the largest of the southwestern coast counties. Lying as it does near the coast of the Gulf of Mexico its climate is tempered in the summer months by the cool gulf winds and in the winter is warmed by these same breezes. The summer temperature is rarely over ninety-five degrees and the average temperature of the winter months is about sixty-five. Some winters have passed without any frost, although a slight frost is the rule most years. The air is dry and this section of the state has long been noted as a natural sanitarium for all pulmonary and throat troubles.

Good Soil

"The soil is the rich black loam. There's a small growth of mesquite timber, but this is easily cleared off at the cost of five dollars an acre and almost pays for itself by the amount of posts and fuel obtained.

Help is plentiful and not expensive. I might say right here that truck gardening is the real paying feature of this country. With excellent railroad facilities the products of these small farms are easily shipped to the local Texas markets, and even farther north, and disposed of at large profits. Grapes ripen in June, while in California, they do not ripen until August. Three vegetable crops are harvested yearly, fall, winter and spring, bringing fancy prices. I have seen farms where as much as $200 was realized from a single acre of cabbage. A farmer makes $100 an acre from this crop easily. Diversification of crops keeps the one-acre planted in cabbage, earlier in the year, in constant use for tomatoes, corn, cucumbers, or melons.

Early Season

"In these small crops Texas surpasses the world and the produce is ready for the market earlier than in either Florida or California. Tomatoes are one of the most profitable and most satisfactory crops. The yield usually runs from three hundred to four hundred crates per acre at good prices. Cabbage is planted in September and is ready for market in mid-winter; its growth is almost abnormal. Irish potatoes yield from one to two hundred bushels per acre and two crops a year can be grown. Onions, those big, lucious kind, known to the trade as Bermudas, are grown by train-load lots in this section of the state. Mark them Texas Bermudas; the order of New York jobbers. They're better than the genuine and sell better. Cauliflower is also another product that demands a good price. Four to eight hundred dollars an acre is not a bad price when you come to think of it. Cauliflowers, like tomatoes, must be rushed to the market, the price depending upon the time of arrival and the profits run from one to two hundred dollars an acre.

Other Crops

"Of course there are other crops that can be grown, but what struck me most forcibly was the onion crop. Hundreds of cars of these are shipped north loaded to the muzzle with Bermudas and they find ready markets. I shall later have more to say as to the climate and crops. The land that we are interested in placing before the public is located so near Alice, which is one of the big cattle shipping towns of the state, that the advantages of this growing community are much to the advantage of the settler. We are offering for sale this rich land at fifteen dollars an acre, half down and the balance on good easy terms. It is a bargain to persons wishing to own their own homes in an ideal climate under ideal conditions. I shall be glad to answer all inquiries as to the land and produce and letters addressed to Fish, Lee and Fish, at Evansville, will receive prompt attention."
